

White Hands

... to Vera T.

My love has little restless hands
So slim and coolly white.
They softly curve like lotus buds
That open in the night.
I caught her little restless hands
And kissed each silken palm
And suddenly against my lips
White hands were stilled and calm.

© Mona McTavish Gould

This poem is covered by a Creative Commons Canada Attribution No-Derivatives Licence. It may be shared freely, but please quote accurately and acknowledge the author each time the poem is used.